SPOTLIGHT YOUR BUSINESS

The Ticonderoga Emergency Squad

8 Depot Street, Ticonderoga

The Ticonderoga Emergency Squad is an organization that provides advanced EMT and critical care services. The squad consists of more than 50 members, including 28 emergency medical technicians. As you are probably aware, the Emergency Squad is currently raising funds for their new home, which is to be located at the site of the former Ticonderoga Civic Center.

What you may not know is that The Ticonderoga Emergency Squad is a fellow Chamber member and, as such, I would encourage you to support them in their fundraising efforts. The Emergency Squad is still selling raffle tickets for the 2005 Honda Shadow VLX 600 - the winner is to be drawn on July 3rd. The squad is also holding a coin drop over the Labor Day weekend.

The Honda motorcycle to be raffled off was donated by Emergency Squad President, Dennis Johnson and his wife, Sue. The bike, with a mural of a beach scene on its gas tank, was featured in the December 2005 issue of V-Twin magazine. The motorcycle only has 833 miles on it. Tickets are on sale at $10 each, and can be purchased by calling the Johnson's at 503-5068.

The Ticonderoga Emergency Squad has been in the same building since 1963. It's time for us to rally around them and help them find a more suitable facility. Please purchase a raffle ticket or make a donation toward the new facilities.

As a Chamber, our strength lies in our members and as a community, business and residential alike, we need to support one another. Please show your support for the very people that help save our lives.

We look forward to hearing from you and supporting your endeavors, whether they are major or minor.

By The Numbers...

In 2008 the Ticonderoga Emergency Squad responded to 595 calls.

That's almost 2 a day.

Keep up the good work!

The Ticonderoga Area Chamber of Commerce Annual Fundraiser

This year's fundraiser was a great success. Just under 100 guests were in attendance at Silver Bay YMCA of the Adirondacks for a wonderful night of enjoyment. A full writeup of the evening will be presented in next month's Gazette... along with pictures!

Please see our SPONSORS on the next page.
The event would not have been as successful as it was if not for our sponsors.
Thank you.

COBRA Health Insurance Premium Subsidy Overview

On February 17, 2008, President Obama signed into law The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, commonly known as the “stimulus package”. The Act includes the most significant changes to group health plan continuation rules since the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). The Act provides a temporary subsidy for individuals who have health coverage through COBRA. Effective March 1, 2009, the federal government is paying 65% of the COBRA health insurance premium for up to nine months.

1. What should employers do to prepare for the new COBRA subsidy?

- Identify former employees, spouses and dependents eligible for subsidized COBRA premiums and determine which of them are entitled to the special election period
- Supplement your COBRA notices with the subsidy information. Model notices are available on the U.S. Department of Labor Web site (www.dol.gov/ebsa/cobra.html), (for employers with 20 or more employees).

Human Resource and payroll departments should talk about ways to recoup the subsidy payment through payroll taxes and ways to track the required information (for employers of 20 or more).

2. Who pays for the 65% premium?

- Large employers: Employers that are subject to federal COBRA (companies with 20 or more employees) must “front” the subsidy. But employers can claim the subsidized amount as a credit against payroll taxes for the period during which the subsidized premium is paid. If subsidy payments exceed the payroll tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment or tax and be credited or refunded.
- Multi-employer plans (i.e. trade groups that offer health insurance to sole proprietors) are also responsible for seeking reimbursement for the subsidy.
- Small employers: For employers that are not covered by federal COBRA, but by the state’s continuation of coverage law (companies with fewer than 20 employees), the health insurer is responsible for paying the subsidy. In these cases, the health insurer is already administering the continuation of coverage for former employees of the company. The employer will not be involved in paying for or administering the subsidy.

3. Who is eligible for the COBRA subsidy?

- Employees who voluntarily lose their jobs for reasons other than gross misconduct between Sept. 1, 2008, and Dec. 31, 2009. They must meet income requirements.

4. Are family members eligible?

- Family members are eligible for the subsidy if they otherwise qualify for COBRA coverage.

5. What are the income limits to be eligible for the subsidy?

- Individuals do not have to repay the COBRA subsidy if their adjusted gross income for the a year is below $125,000, (or $250,00 for joint filers).
- For individuals with incomes between $125,000 and $145,000 (or $250,000 and $290,000 for joint filers), a portion of the subsidy must be repaid.
- For individuals whose income is $145,000 (or $290,000 for joint filers), the entire subsidy must be repaid. The repayment will be accomplished by increasing the individual’s (or joint filer’s) income tax liability in an amount equal to the subsidy that was received. Individuals who believe their income will exceed the threshold amounts may notify the employer or insurer that they will not be eligible for the subsidy and the full premium will be billed to the individual.

10 Critical Cash Flow Tips

Even in most predictable situations most business managers have seen, its harder than ever to plan 3 months ahead of time-never mind a year! However, despite the chaos, there are well established tools that can be used to navigate a murky business environment, Even in the most uncertain times, you don't have to wing it. There are systematic ways to deal with even the most uncertain environment.

- 1) Track data in real time. You need to track your key variables such as cash flow daily, track inventory, receivables and margins weekly. Don't use annual budgets instead use quarterly or even better, monthly targets. To stay on top, managers need to meet daily to keep a pulse on the business.
- 2) Identify trends. Market data can help you tract a picture of where a market is moving and how your competitors are responding. Whose sales are up? Whose sales are down. What is selling at your business and what isn't? Look at several key predictors which can give you an indication as to what is happening in the marketplace.
- 3) Explore the what-ifs. It is human nature to concentrate on things we already know and time and time again fail to take into consideration what we don't know. As a result, people often overlook opportunities or oversimplify complex problems. In uncertain times, the advantage goes to those who can imagine the "impossible".
- 4) Know what you don't know. All bets are off in an uncertain business environment, so it's essential to understand all the variables that could affect your management strategy. Potential wrenches in the works, like new regulations that could cripple a division's business or a new software package that might under perform when installed, are the kinds of surprises you want to know about in advance.
- 5) Inventory sucks up cash. You have to buy your product or build it before you can sell it. Even if you put the product on your shelved and wait to sell it, your suppliers expect to get paid. Here's a simple rule of thumb: Every dollar you have in inventory is a dollar you don't have in cash.
- 6) Working capital is your best survival skill. Technically, working capital is an accounting term for what's leftover when you subtract current liabilities from current assets. Practically, its money in the bank that you use to pay your running costs and expenses and buy inventory while waiting to get paid by your business customers.
- 7) "Receivables" is a four-letter word. The money your customers owe you is called "accounts receivable". Here's a shortcut to cash planning: Every dollar in accounts receivable is a dollar less cash.
- 8) Banker's hate surprises. Plan ahead. You get no extra points for spontaneity when dealing with banks. If you see a growth spurt coming, a new product opportunity or a problem with customers paying, the sooner you get to the bank armed with charts and a realistic plan, the better off you'll be.
- 9) Watch these three vital metrics: "Collection days" is a measure of how long you wait to get paid. "inventory turnover" is a measure of how long your inventory sits on your working capital and clogs your cash flow. "Payment days" is how long you wait to pay your vendors. Always monitor these three vital signs of cash flow. Project them 12 months ahead and compare your plan to what actually happens.
- 10) If you're the exception rather than the rule, hooray for you. If all your customers pay you immediately when they buy from you, and you don't buy things before you sell them, then relax. But, if you sell to businesses, keep in mind they usually don't pay immediately.

FLAG DAY

In the United States, Flag Day is celebrated on June 14. It commemorates the adoption of the flag of the United States, which happened that day by resolution of the Second Continental Congress in 1777.

In 1916, President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation that officially established June 14 as Flag Day; in August 1949, National Flag Day was established by an Act of Congress.

Flag Day is not an official federal holiday, though on June 14, 1937, Pennsylvania became the first (and only) U.S. state to celebrate Flag Day as a state holiday.

Title 36 of the United States Code, Subtitle I, Part A, CHAPTER 1§110 is the official statute on Flag Day; however, it is at the President's discretion to proclaim officially the observance.

The longest-running Flag Day parade is held annually in Quincy, Massachusetts, which began 1952 and will celebrate its 59th year in 2009.

The largest Flag Day parade is held annually in Troy, New York, which bases its parade on the Quincy parade and typically draws 50,000 spectators.

The week of June 14 is designated as "National Flag Week." During National Flag Week, the president will issue a proclamation urging U.S. citizens to fly the American flag for the duration of that week. The flag should also be displayed on all Government buildings. Some organizations hold parades and events in celebration of America's national flag and everything it represents.

The National Flag Day Foundation holds an annual observance for Flag Day on the second Sunday in June. The program includes a ceremonial raising of the flag, recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance, singing of the National Anthem (The Star-Spangled Banner) a parade and more.

The Betsy Ross House, has long been the site of Philadelphia's observance of Flag Day.

SBA Will Offer Floor Plan Financing to Auto, RV, Other Dealerships Beginning July 1

KOKOMO, IND. – The U.S. Small Business Administration will offer government guaranteed loans to finance inventory for eligible auto, recreational vehicle, boat and other dealerships under a new pilot program announced today by SBA Administrator Karen Mills.

Dealer Floor Plan (DFP) financing will be available beginning July 1, according to Mills. She announced the new program during a visit to Kokomo, Ind., with Dr. Ed Montgomery, President Barack Obama's Director of Recovery for Auto Communities and Workers.

"Countless small businesses, including dealerships, across the country are facing significant challenges as a result of the uncertainty in the auto industry," Mills said. "Floor plan financing can offer some dealerships the opportunity to get through these tough economic times by allowing them to keep their inventory and cash flow intact, as well as save the jobs these small businesses provide."

Mills and Montgomery discussed the new DFP pilot program, as well as other resources offered by SBA and the federal government to help small businesses in communities impacted by the troubles facing the auto industry.

"Small businesses are the engine of our economic growth," Dr. Montgomery said. "We are committed to finding ways the federal government can cut through red tape and get resources to these companies quickly during these tough economic times. From supporting nearly $4 billion in lending to small businesses across the country since February to the Dealer Floor Plan financing announced today, the SBA is making the resources provided in the Recovery Act accessible and working to provide needed credit. The President is committed to continuing to work with federal officials to identify resources like these that make a real difference in the lives of our auto communities and workers."

Floor plan financing is a line of credit that allows dealers to borrow against their inventory, and then repay that debt as they sell their inventory or borrow against the line of credit again to add new inventory.

Under the DFP pilot program, the SBA will provide loan guarantees for lines of credit through its 7 (a) program. DFP loans will be made through SBA lenders only for titled inventory, including autos, RVs, manufactured homes, boats and motorcycles.

The pilot program will begin July 1 and will be available through Sept. 30, 2010, at which time the SBA will make the determination of whether or not to extend the program.

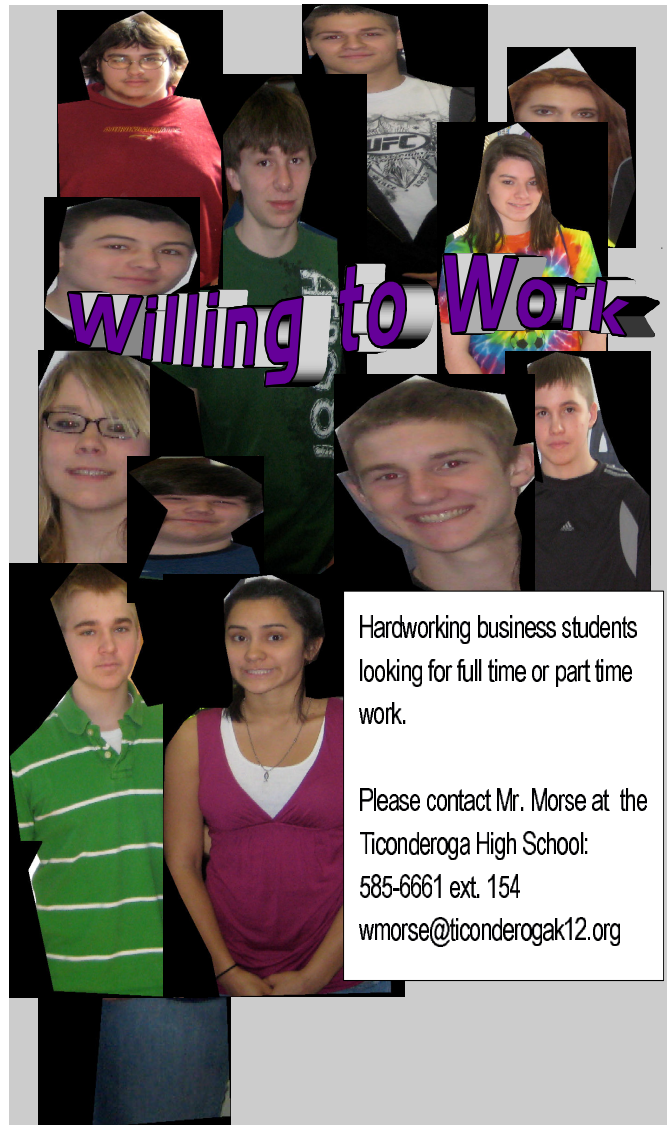

DFP loans will be available for a minimum of $500,000 up to the $2 million allowable under the 7(a) program. With a maximum repayment term of five years, the loans will come with a 75 percent government guarantee. Borrowers will also benefit from the temporary elimination of fees on 7(a) loans made possible by the America's Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

During a roundtable discussion later in the afternoon with local small business owners Mills provided information on other SBA loan programs and benefits provided by the Recovery Act. Specifically, small business owners can take advantage of higher government guarantees on some 7(a) loans, as well as reduced fees on both 7(a) and 504 loans. The agency is also providing more tools to help small businesses compete for federal government contracts, along with technical assistance and counseling for business owners and entrepreneurs to help them deal with the economic challenges they face.

"We are committed to being the real partner small businesses need at this critical time," Mills said. "Floor plan financing is just the latest tool in our toolbox to help small businesses in communities like Kokomo weather this recession and drive our nation's economic recovery."

Father's Day

Father's Day is a celebration inaugurated in the early twentieth century to complement Mother's Day in celebrating fatherhood and male parenting, and to honor and commemorate fathers and forefathers. Father's Day is celebrated on a variety of dates worldwide and typically involves gift-giving, and special dinners to fathers and family-oriented activities. In 2008, it was celebrated on June 15 in many countries. In 2009, it will be celebrated on June 21 in many countries.

The first observance of Father's Day is believed to have been held on July 5 1908 in a church located in Fairmont, West Virginia by Dr. Robert Webb of West Virginia at the Central United Methodist Church of Fairmont.

Mrs. Sonora Smart Dodd of Washington thought independently of the holiday one Sunday in 1909 while listening to a Mother's Day sermon at the Central Methodist Episcopal Church at Spokane, and she arranged a tribute for her father in June 19, 1910. She was the first to solicit the idea of having an official Father's Day observance.

It took many years to make the holiday official. In spite of support from the YWCA, the YMCA, and churches, it ran the risk of disappearing from the calendar. Where Mother's Day was met with enthusiasm, Father's Day was met with laughter. The holiday was gathering attention slowly, but the wrong reasons: it was the target of much satire, parody and derision, including jokes from the local newspaper Spokesman-Review. Many people saw it as just the first step in filling the calendar with mindless promotions like "Grandparents Day", "Professional Secretaries Day", etc. all the way down to "National Clean Your Desk Day".

A bill was introduced on 1913, US President Calvin Coolidge supported the idea in 1924, a national committee was formed in the 1930s by trade groups in order to legitimize the holiday,

In addition to Father's Day, International Men's Day is celebrated in many countries, most often on November 19.
